

2010 Bacigalupi Zinfandel

Russian River Valley

The 2010 vintage was a balancing act starting with a relatively wet spring followed by a long, cool growing season and culminating with a heat spike that finally allowed grapes to achieve ripeness. John Bacigalupi trimmed fruit and pulled leaves within the vineyards to assure full fruit maturity. Lower than normal yields result in a Zinfandel that displays remarkable quality with a more restrained and elegant style.

Our Zinfandel vineyard straddles the Dry Creek appellation resulting in a briary, brambly intensity of a slightly warmer climate. It is a lush Zinfandel with an abundance of wild berry and subtle pepper spice flavors.
